PROJECTS

2023/05 MERN Stack To-Do Application

• I developed a modern To-Do application using the MERN stack. This full-stack application showcases the capability to create responsive web applications, encompassing tasks such as database design, API development, seamless front-end and back-end integration.

Weather Forecast Application 2023/07

• I developed a Weather App using React.js. In this React application, Implemented real-time weather data retrieval and display, allowing users to check current weather conditions for specified locations. This project showcased proficiency in React components, API integration, and responsive web design, highlighting a strong foundation in front-end development and problem-solving skills.

Portfolio Website 2023/09

• The website boasts a contemporary design that is not only visually appealing but also user-friendly. Its responsive layout ensures that it looks and functions flawlessly across various devices and screen sizes.
